Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 08 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Frost and ice tonight. A cold but sunny day tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mostly dry with lengthy clear skies, especially inland overnight. A widespread and severe frost will quickly form with the risk of icy stretches. A few light showers are likely along the east coast at first. Minimum temperature -7 deg C (19 deg F).

Saturday:
A very cold start but fine, with good spells of sunshine. Clouding over from the north later in the day. Feeling cold with frost and ice lingering in shaded areas. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudier and breezier on Sunday with some rain and drizzle. Less cold. Further rain and strong winds moving south Monday, perhaps some hill snow later. Drier and brighter on Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.